RE: GENERAL INFORMATION RE CCC 220

Dear owners of CCC 220,

CCC 220 is considered to be a subdivision-style condominium, which makes it different than a standard style condominium.

Understanding the difference between the two styles is important to the owners and your insurers. The difference has hopefully been explained to you by your real estate agent and/or your lawyer. In case you need a refresher, your property manager David Duncan has prepared the two attached documents.

Please read this documentation carefully and keep it for your records. It will shortly be included in our website www.deerpark.ca, click on Portfolio, CCC 220, General Information.
